Read the passage below and answer questions 31-40.

A grown up man or woman having an affair with a 14 year old boy or girl. Doesn't this make you angry? A man abusing his age and authority to make a young girl have sex with him, but what if the grown up is a woman and the pupil a 14 year old boy?

Sexual abuse of boys is more common than we realize. Boys are unfairly expected to be strong and in control, therefore, they are less likely than girls to report being abused. Many times, they are not even listened to. Many people do not believe them especially if they say the abuser is a woman or someone their parents know.

Just like girls, boys too suffer through sexual contact with an adult (man or woman). Apart from pain, it causes guilt shame psychological trauma low self image and esteem.

Adults often occupy a position of trust for example a teacher, minister, sports coach, the boy feels betrayed and abandoned as well as assaulted. He may react by becoming anti-social or aggressive, have problems in school, fall into drug or alcohol abuse and get into abusive relationship later on.

We must protect boys as well as girls from sexual abuse. Boys who have been abused must speak up and get help for themselves.

Read the passage below then answer questions 41 to 50.

Your body needs only small amount of iodine but it must be taken regularly. Iodine is naturally found in fish and other sea food, green leafy vegetables, dairy products and eggs. To make sure you are getting enough iodine every day, buy and use only iodized salt to season food.

Iodine is important because it regulates the rate of energy production and promotes proper growth. Iodine is of great value in prevention of a disease called goitre.

People who live in highland areas are likely to have iodine deficiency than people living in plains. This is because when it rains, the water flowing downhill is rich in minerals including iodine from the soil.

Iodine deficiency is so widely spread that government in Africa and around the world are promoting iodized salt as an easy way to make sure everyone gets enough iodine. So make sure everyone gets enough iodine. So make sure the salt your family buys is labelled "iodized" on the packet.

Now that you know how important iodine is make sure you tell your parents so everyone in the family can stay healthy.
