SECTION A

TASK 1: LISTENING AND SPEAKING

(5mks)

1. The teacher reads the story below and asks the learner the questions that follow.

Mkulima is a farmer. He has one wife and three children. He has a big farm where he keeps cattle, goats, camels and pigs. He also grows some crops such as maize, beans, cassava and sweet potatoes. Mkulima and his family members wake up very early in the morning. Everyone has duties to do. Mkulima milks the cows and feeds the animals after waking up. He then heads to weed in the farm. His wife prepares meals for the family and does other household chores. The children help their father with farm work and taking care of the animals after school.

- What does Mkulima do?
- How many members are there in Mkulima's family?
- What animals does Mkulima keep?
- Name one crop that Mkulima grows.
- What duties does Mkulima's wife do?

TASK 2: READING ALOUD

2. Read the story below aloud (10mks)

Our country has various public holidays. These holidays are celebrated during different dates of the year. During the public holidays, citizens congregate at designated venues to celebrate together. During these holidays, citizens who are employed do not go to work. They are allowed to celebrate with others. Normally, the president addresses the citizens during these days and delivers his message. Each year, all citizens look forward to these public holidays.

Human rights refers to the freedoms and privileges that people are entitled to. Children have their rights too. One of these rights is the right to education. Children are taken to school to get education. Children too have a right to protection. This means that they should be protected from any harm in their surrounding. They should also be protected by ensuring that they are not subjected to child labour. Some people violate children's rights by employing them. Anyone who employs children should be arrested and charged in a court of law.

(a) What are human rights?

(b) What right do children get when they are taken to school?

(c) How are children subjected to child labour?

(d) What should be done to people who employ children?

(e) Write a good title for this passage.
